We started using TPI to manage our inventory because we needed a system that could help us grow our business. Other inventory management systems did not have the features that we were looking for to take our business to the next level.

Since starting with TPI we have been able to optimize our inventory management procedures. The system is easy to use and my parts guys can work from the yard using their tablets. They can post parts and images and print tags without ever having to go inside; which saves time and increases productivity.

TPI is also cloud based so it saves us having to maintain expensive servers. They are able to do quick updates and add new features without it costing us a bunch of money.

TPI has tons of great features which help my sales guys sell more. A good example would be the location labeling. When we enter a part into the system we can enter the location of that part. When we have a buyer for the part we can quickly locate the part in the yard using the location labels. Knowing where our parts are increases sales and provides our buyers with better customer service.

We like how TPI is continually adding new features to make managing our inventory easier. TPI's support staff is always at hand when we need them and they are quick to address our needs.
